On the heights of the Alleghenies
Stands a high school fair.

There, among great trees abiding

Pine scent in the air -

There all nature in its glory

OUR EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES . . .

summer, green and winter hoary-

OUR INTERSCHOLASTIC SPORTS . . .

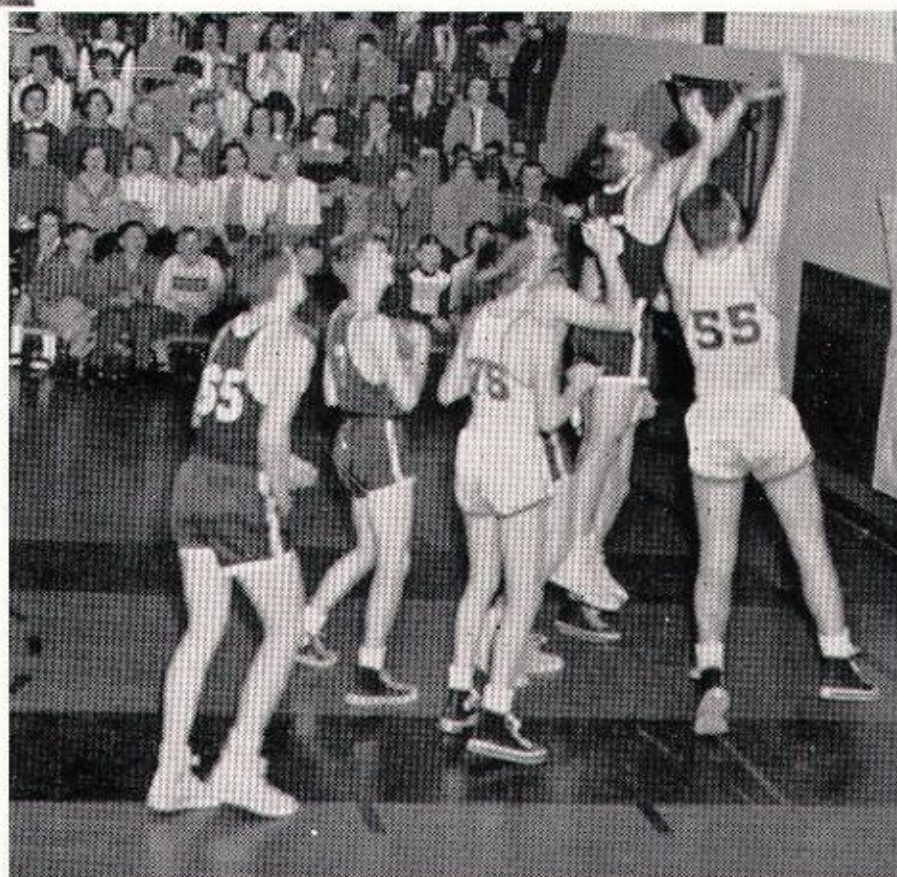

Tells the seasons' wondrous story;

Hail to old Kane High.

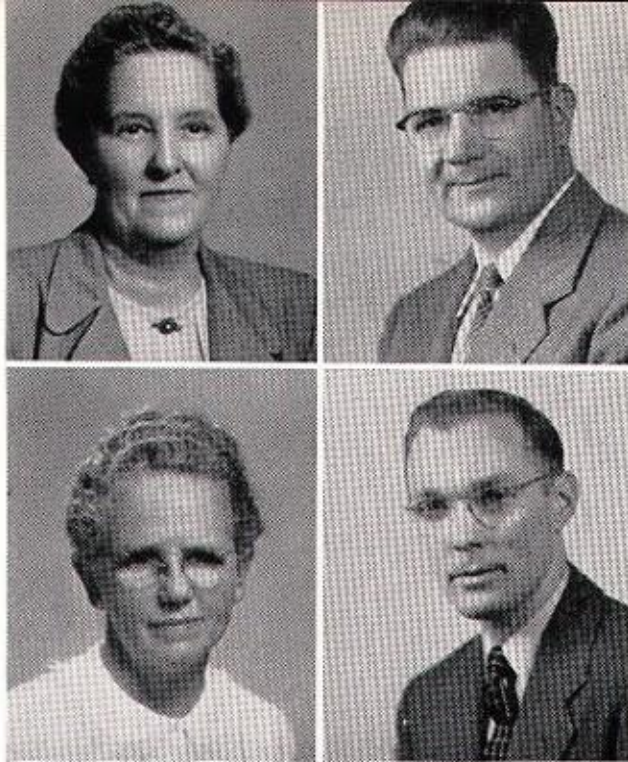

"Stop that man" shout the opposition.

Bob drives hard

"Will it go in?"

SCHOOL BOARD

Under the able direction of the school board, all the problems of operating our schools are smoothly ironed out. This is the first year the Union District has been in effect. It began in July after first receiving a favorable vote in four districts—Kane Borough, Highland Township, Hamilton Township, and Mt. Jewett Borough. Wetmore Township and part of Sergeant Township are not in the Union District but are part of the Joint District.

This year there are two sets of officers, one for both the Union and the Joint Districts. Dr. Charles Cleland is President and Mr. Tavy Summersgill is Vice President of the Union District. President and Vice President of the Joint District are Mr. Clyde Gilfert and Mr. Robert Fees respectively. Secretary of both Union and Joint Districts is Mr. Ralph DeCamp. Mr. Gustav Olson is Treasurer.

One of the board's many jobs this year was to find a replacement for Mr. Robert Lowry who resigned his post as principal early in December in order to become Director of Admissions at Slippery Rock State Teachers College. The board chose Mr. Dalton G. VanOrmer to be acting principal.

Plane Geometry developed a long way back. The evolution of this mathematical field not only gave us a powerful tool for our practical use but it gave us a way of thinking. It led to an era of reason. This reasoning was begun by taking a few axioms or accepted facts and from these truths going on to further and more complex ideas.

Our greatest need for progress is in the realm of human relationships and understanding. At present, our prejudices influence us so much that we can't agree as to the basic truths on which to begin our work. By the use of scientific research, we can pass through the prejudice barrier and enter the area of truth—a solid foundation on which to build.

When social consciousness and science advance hand in hand, we will have true and lasting progress toward human brotherhood and a world that is free and unafraid.

Dalton G. Van Ormer
Principal

Geometry is a branch of mathematics which treats of powers and properties of magnitudes. The new world the class of '57 must face will be a highly technical, college-minded galaxy of scientists and mathematicians.

In a sense the chips are down, the pattern is set. The urgent call will be for the skilled, trained, workman and for the manager highly educated in handling "systematic knowledge."

Definitely the trend is toward higher technical qualifications which require logical geometry for reasoning and descriptive geometry to convey ideas for construction.

If you are on the lookout for a career with a solid future, whether it be in the field of electronics, a top-ranking space expert, or a brilliant engineer, geometry will be a necessary part of the ground floor.

It is my sincere hope that the Kane Area Schools have given you the required tools to enter the Gates of the Future.

The People

In order to carry out the theme of geometry in this book, we have chosen circles to represent classes.

Just as a circle contains 360 degrees, we feel that the seniors have acquired 360 degrees of knowledge, which is represented by the white area.

The juniors have only three-fourths of their knowledge; sophomores one-half; and freshmen one-fourth.

Remember when we elected Lynn Larson president of our freshman class? She was the first female class president in nearly 28 years. Who could ever forget the fudge club Mr. Monte had in study hall 24 for those lucky study hall students? The autobiographies we wrote for English I proved a lot of work.

Mike Swanson was elected president of our soph class and Bob Donovan took over as M. C. at our class party in May, '55.

Our junior year was a lot of work especially if you took chemistry. Mike Carlson was elected prexy of the junior class. Bob Howard had the lead in "Father Was a Housewife," and after many hours of planning, Peppermint Paradise was finally presented as the Junior Prom theme.

As we began our last year together, we again elected Mike Carlson, class president. Sandy Walter took the lead in "The Late Christopher Bean" and the senior class went over the top in magazine sales. The Washington Trip for which we had saved money for four years was taken in April. With Commencement exercises on June 6, the class of '57 ended four years together. Hope they were happy ones.

The problems of any large institution must be brought together and discussed so that the people may live and work together in harmony. Our school is operated in this manner.

Since over 700 students could hardly meet and arrive at a decision to please everyone, they elect certain persons to represent them. These homeroom representatives make up what is known as our student council.

During the year the council plans cafeteria menus and various dances.

This year the council sponsored a Courtesy Campaign in December to help promote courtesy in and around the school.

Student Council is an essential part of our school. Without it student affairs would not run as smoothly as they do.

The Junior Red Cross is a service organization which serves as a link between the National Red Cross and the school. The eighth and ninth grades make up the active group at Kane High with membership through Four-Fold. The activities of Junior Red Cross are planned by a council which consists of representatives from each homeroom. Junior Red Cross work is mostly connected with holiday preparation of gifts which include Bloodmobile, Red Cross activities, and Civil Defense.

Officers are: Joyce Lias, president; Natalie Hill, vice president; Dorothy Pascale, secretary; and Sandy Garris, treasurer.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS—Row I, L. to R.: S. Phillips, J. Popielski, A. Alcorn, M. Henle, C. Eshbaugh, B. Hannah, L. Bilicic, V. Hottel. Row II: J. Nordahl, M. Boddorf, A. Bizzak, V. Cartwright, M. Dyne, C. Deems, J. Hess, C. Burton, B. Howe. Row III: A. Weaver, C. Pierotti, B. Campbell, J. Anderson, J. Beatty, M. Offi, L. Baker, B. Lobaugh, R. Bennett, P. Cartwright. Row IV: D. McCauley, S. Smith, B. Shaw, K. Markey, D. Hadfield, P. Kelley, C. Burns, A. Dwight, C. Anderson, A. Cesario.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

"Could you tell me where I could find----?" This is certainly a very familiar inquiry to the forty girls who represent the Assistant Library Staff.

These girls have a very important job in typing, filing books, and keeping the membership cards in order. Each assistant librarian relinquishes one study hall weekly to assist in the library. With the help of these girls Mrs. Jones, librarian, has time to attend to her other important duties in managing our library.

HURRI-KANE

Judy and Mary, the two busy Co-editors.

In the 1957 Hurri-Kane the staff has tried to give you a picture of the well-balanced education you receive at Kane High. From the photographs an outsider gets a "bird's eye view" of student activities. Write-ups about various clubs or sports help to explain what the functions of that particular organization are. We hope we have succeeded in putting our ideas across.

Journalism class worked as the reporting staff during the first semester and gathered material for the second semester. At the end of the first semester the journalism class celebrated a successful half year with a party.

Miss Jan Mincer, commercial teacher, became Hi-Life's adviser of production this year, working with Miss Rosana Eckman to improve the semi-weekly paper.

Exchange editors, George Walker and Joe Wiggins, sent more than a hundred copies of the Hi-Life to high schools throughout this area of Pennsylvania and to many former students in the service and at college.

About twenty members of the Hi-Life staff attended the District Press conference at St. Bernard's in Bradford early in November. In May several staff members attended Press Day at St. Bonaventure University.

Hi-Life also furnished school news for the Kane Republican, the Bradford Era, the Erie Daily Times, and for Teen-Time, a weekly feature of station WADP.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

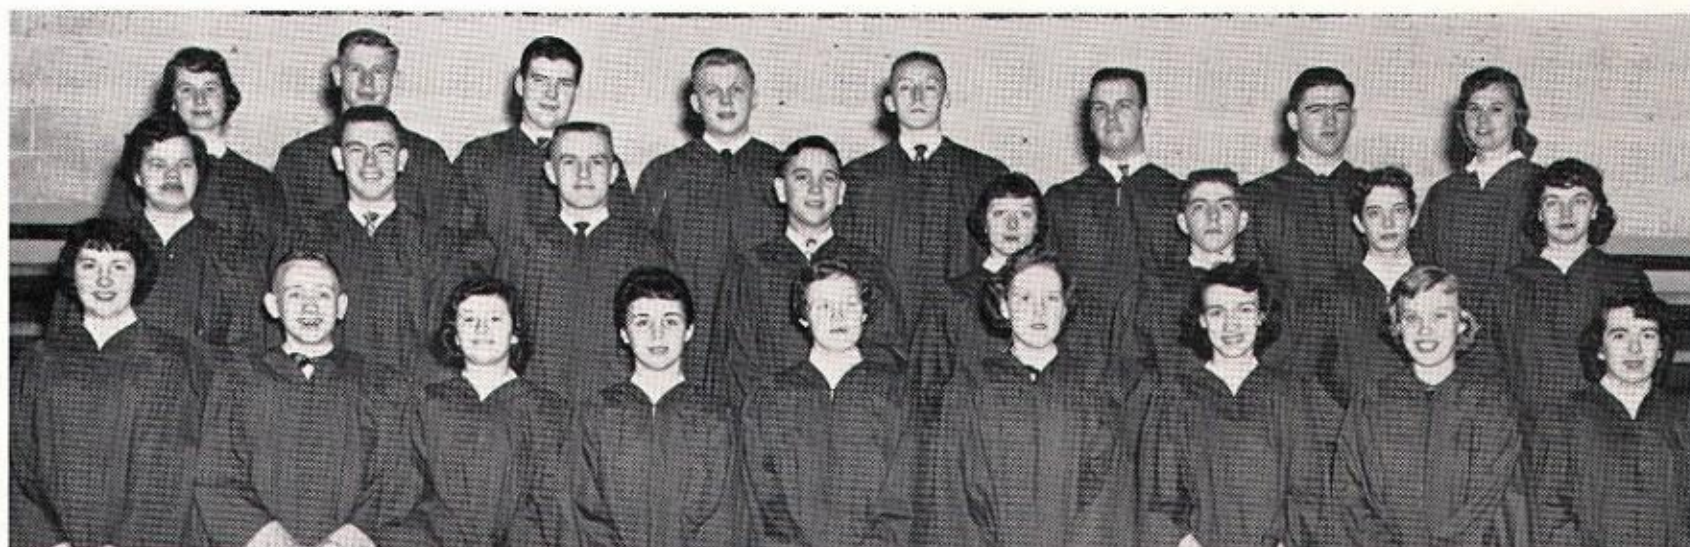

On stage was the rainbow—the rainbow of desires. In the darkened auditorium sat the hopeful juniors and seniors, their nerves taut, waiting, waiting. For some, hopes were fulfilled. They felt the gentle tap on the shoulder and floated on clouds up the aisle to the stage. On stage in their blue robes they held their flaming torches and solemnly vowed: "I pledge myself to uphold the high purposes of this society and to make its ideals the ideals of my life and my school."

On March 5, a tea was held honoring the newly elected seniors and juniors and their parents. A banquet was held on May 1 at the Kane Manor and a mock initiation and picnic was held May 22.

During Easter vacation, the senior members assisted in an initiation at Emporium.

Future Teachers of America started the year with a very promising schedule. In September the following officers were elected: Judith Bentz, President; Margie Holland, Vice-President; Mary Santilli, Secretary-Treasurer. Several projects were completed by members of the club which involved experimental teaching. In October, the members of FTA attended the PSEA convention in Bradford. Bob Donovan represented our Mabel Studebaker Chapter in a panel of four. They discussed the question "How may we recruit better teachers and keep them?" At several times during the year Future Teachers were permitted to substitute for the faculty. FTA had many interesting speakers throughout the year who gave the club members very important aspects of teaching as a career. On January 9, FTA held its initiation. There was a mock initiation during the day and a formal ceremony in the evening in Room 8. Mr. Gregg Turner was the adviser to the group.

HALL PATROL

When the first bell has rung, the members of hall patrol leave their classes to lessen the congestion in the halls. At the end of the second bell these boys have already found their positions, turned on the lights, opened the doors, and are waiting for the students to change classes without any confusion.

The main objective of the hall patrol is to keep student traffic moving at all times. They also try to prevent any accidents which might occur in the halls. Without these boys many new students would not be able to find their classrooms in September.

Meetings are held only on special occasions such as electing a captain or getting substitutes when the boys go to Washington.

Dalton G. VanOrmer is the adviser of this group and Larry Johnson is acting as captain this year.

PHY-CHY

Do you know that a Rhesus monkey doesn't have an appendix? Ask any member of the Phy-Chy Club; they learned this at one of their club meetings when Dr. R. E. Hockenberry performed a dissection of a Rhesus monkey to climax the activities of Phy-Chy.

Earlier in the year, Mr. Arthur Johnson, Stackpole representative, spoke on transistors. A panel of club members gave an interesting and informative report on the Biological Effects of Atomic Radiation. Other club members conducted cold light experiments, dying of taffeta, rayon acetate, and silk cloths and phenolic form experiments.

"All Aboard for Exodus" was the title of Phy-Chy's annual assembly.

To end the year's activities, Phy-Chy went on a field trip to Ridgway Ink Plant and the Johnsonburg Paper Mill. The club adviser was Mr. D. G. VanOrmer.

Phy-Chy officers were: Bob Donovan, President; Bob Lindquist, Vice President; Mary Ann Turnquist, Secretary-Treasurer.

"THE LATE CHRISTOPHER BEAN"

"The Hill Pasture" - "The Red Barn" - "The Covered Bridge" . . . To those who witnessed the senior class play, "The Late Christopher Bean," these titles represent the plot of this hit production.

"The Late Christopher Bean" involves the lives of nine people who are obsessed with the thought of regaining the paintings of a dead artist after realizing their great value.

Christopher Bean died leaving several paintings to the Haggett family as a payment to the doctor for his services. One day several men arrived with the same purpose in mind: to pay their respects to the memory of the dead artist. In time the real reason for their visit was revealed. It appeared that the Bean paintings were worth a fortune. Turmoil reigned in the Haggett household until Abby, the maid, climaxed the play with the statement that Chris Bean was her husband. Since Abby was, therefore, the rightful owner to the Bean paintings, the play ended. More than one person was disappointed, but all had learned a lesson about greed.

For four weeks a cast of ten worked hard to achieve the perfection of top performances, directed by Robert Smith. Mary Ann Turnquist was the student director.

In the cast were: Abby, Sandy Walter; Dr. Haggett, Bob Howard; Mrs. Haggett, Judy Bentz and Donna Rolfe; Ada Haggett, Kay Knapp; Susan Haggett, Barb Garris; Warren Creamer, George Walker; Maxwell Davenport, Joe Wiggins; Rosen, Bob Donovan; and Tallant, John Van Aken.

"THE CURIOUS SAVAGE"

The Class of '58 may well be proud of their junior play, "The Curious Savage," which was a huge success playing to capacity houses on March 21 and 22. This production portrayed the schemes of three Savage children to extract a family fortune of ten million dollars from their eccentric mother, Mrs. Savage, who delighted in exasperating her mercenary offspring with curious action such as doing her hair in rainbow hues to suit her moods, and always carrying a musty, old teddy bear with her.

Mrs. Savage's conniving children were obsessed with one thought and that was to find their mother's bonds. Because of Mrs. Savage's strange actions Samuel, Titus and Lily Belle placed her in a rest home while they plotted a way to win the money. However, Mrs. Savage realized the plans of her children and made several attempts to ward off the evil schemes of the money seekers by sending them on a wild chase to hunt for the bonds.

The climax to the play came when the bonds were found in Mrs. Savage's teddy bear and her surprising decision was to stay at the rest home.

Miss Barbara Begeny directed "The Curious Savage" with Mary Thompson, student director.

THESPIAN

This year over forty senior high students were led by their dramatic instincts to the auditorium every other Tuesday morning, where they participated in the various Thespian activities.

Early in the year, Mr. Robert Smith, the club's adviser, presented several lectures and illustrations on voice inflection and speech control. These talks served a very useful purpose late in the year when the Thespians were permitted to exercise their acting abilities in an assembly play, "Sorry, Wrong Number." This was a one act thriller involving fourteen characters, an intricate stage setting, and an overheard murder plot. Alice Cochrane portrayed Mrs. Stevenson, the unwitting hearer of a plot to end her life. Supporting roles were played by John Colle, Bob Howard, Lee Grosch, Becky Kane, Clark Gayley, and Mike Miller. Also featured in the cast were Marge Beatty, Elaine Frederick, Eileen Barr, Jo Ann Streit, Judy Holt, Jo Ann Connors, and Ruth Carlson. Mary Thompson was student director of the production.

Club officers were John Colle, Bob Howard, Sandra Carlson, and Ruth Bradybaugh.

USHERETTES

One small organization in Kane High which did a fine job with small reward was Usherettes. Usherettes, making a social event in our school very beautiful in their colored formals, prevented what could have been bedlam in the auditorium and gymnasium. Before curtain time Usherettes relied on their memories as they escorted those attending to their seats and handed out programs. There were sixteen girls in this group who handled their job efficiently. However, not all of the girls ushered at every affair. These girls proved how much they were needed at junior and senior plays, choral concerts and finally at Vespers and commencement. Miss Barbara Turner, adviser to the group, patiently explained to this year's new crop of girls just what to do and what not to do when ushering at a public gathering. And, again this year, Usherettes were highly praised for their polite and friendly manner rendered at Kane High's social functions, helping to make the programs a success.

8th GRADE DRAMATICS

The purpose of the 8th Grade Dramatics was to help the members appreciate drama and to provide a background in dramatics for those members who would go on to Thespian Club. This group met every other Tuesday morning in Room 26.

The members of 8th Grade Dramatics were divided into committees and every member had to take an active part. Each committee was responsible for preparing a special program for every meeting. Short skits, pantomimes, and talent shows were presented at various times throughout the year.

In March the club very skillfully presented "Alias Janetta," a humorous one act comedy, for junior high assembly. The cast, Eva Mae Warring, Mary Montgomery, Judy Orcutt, John Cox, Peggy Benigni, Angelo Cappello, John Fees, and Paul Erickson, also presented the play for the West Side School.

The officers of this club were: Elaine Hallingshead, president; Ruth Reitter, vice president; Diana Phillips, secretary; John Fees, treasurer.

Mrs. Grace Cochran acted as adviser to the club.

9th GRADE DRAMATICS

"To be or not to be: that is the question." Young actors and actresses asked themselves this question early in the fall when 9th Grade Dramatics was organized . . . Should I become a member or not? It soon appeared that a vast majority wanted to be either modified Hamlets or Lady Macbeths as over 45 students joined this club.

This year the younger Thespians learned the basis of acting, reading and studying one-act plays. By presenting an assembly play in January, "High School Daze," they proved what they had learned, and also, encountered an actor's delight; the mystery of make-up, the confusion of acquiring the right props, the heat of the glaring stage lights, and finally, the inevitable "butterflies" at curtain time.

The lady behind the scenes of "High School Daze" was Miss Barbara Begeny, adviser to the group. Alexandra Connelly was student director.

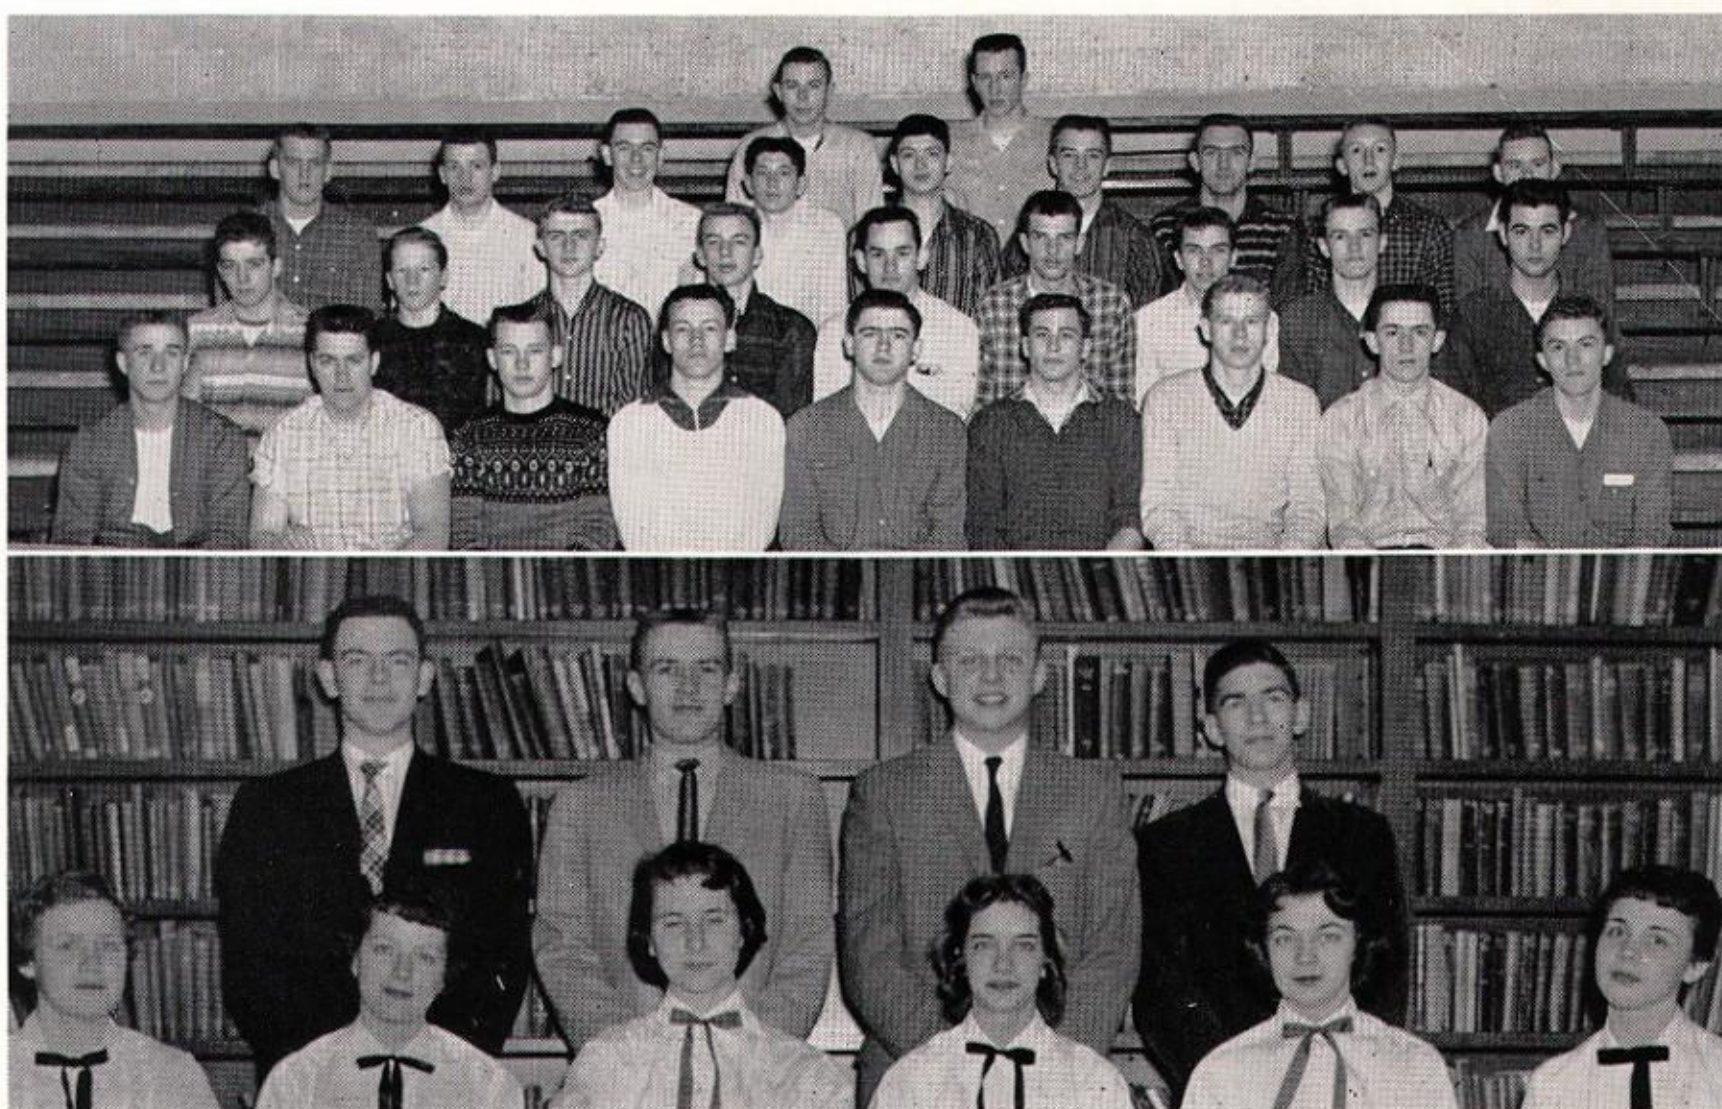

The young players who led 9th Grade Dramatics were Suellen Snapp, President; Roger Imbrogno, Vice President; Eunice Murphy, Secretary; and Tom Brinkley, Treasurer.

When the Folk Song Group is around there is sure to be music. Harmony comes naturally to these singers. In 1954 Folk Song was organized and since then the ten students who belong to this group have really proved their merits.

One characteristic of the Folk Singers is that they remain sitting around a table at each appearance as the original folk singers once did.

The singers make many public appearances each year including civic and religious organizations, school assemblies, and an annual tour to neighboring schools.

SMALL ARMS

At the onset of the school year, the call went out for members of Small Arms Club. All eighth and ninth grade boys interested in familiarizing themselves with the handling and proper shooting of small caliber rifles responded and Mr. William Miller and Mr. Curtis Ickes, the advisers, began to teach them the essentials of good shooting.

Practicing at first with wooden rifles, the boys learned the parts of the gun, use of the sling, and the shooting positions.

After learning the rudiments with the wooden guns, the boys got a chance to do some real shooting on the range. At the end of the year, awards were given the best marksmen and those who shot a required high score.

BAND

Pulses beat wildly at the throbbing beat of the Kane High School marching band as it stepped proudly down the football field last fall. Few students got much studying done in their second period classes as this inspiring music crept around the windows and into the classrooms. With heads held high, the members of marching band, under the direction of Mr. Loren Wright, did their part toward providing fine music, boosting the morale, and backing cheers at the football games. As the snow began to fly and football season neared its end, the group moved inside to begin rehearsals for concert band, directed by Mr. Charles Stewart.

With growing anticipation, the musicians worked on the inspiring selections chosen for the band and orchestra concert in the spring. Soon, the applications for district band went in. Allen Peterson, Wilbur Mathys, Carol Weiser, Nancy Homan, and Kate Jones were chosen to represent Kane High at this interesting and worthwhile function. Kate Jones later went on to State Band. Later in the year, the group participated in an assembly program put on for the student body. Finally the band climaxed the year's program with its fine participation in the grand finale, the Spring Instrumental Concert.

ORCHESTRA

Mysterious! This was the word applied to orchestra in the fall of 1956. Would this small group be able to blossom in a year, into a fine, music producing organization? The question more than answered itself as the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Charles Stewart, sped toward its goal of more beautiful and professional sounding music. Soon after school had started, all heads were together to plan for orchestra's growing calendar of appearances. First on the agenda was a student assembly for which orchestra played the opening and closing marches. Next, it played two marches and a separate number on the program for the student talent assembly. A few months later, National Honor Society inducted new members to music furnished by the orchestra.

Following this, the organization settled down for a period of long, hard work in preparation for the Spring Instrumental Concert. Some students soon received an extra load, for the music of District Orchestra, held this year in Clearfield, Pennsylvania, arrived. Mary Johnson, Ruth Carlson, Marjorie Bush, Alex Connelly, Randall Manning, Allen Peterson, Monroe Nelson, and Otis Irons were chosen to represent Kane. The season was climaxed by the presentation of the Spring Concert after which orchestra completed its schedule with participation in the graduation exercises.

SOPHOMORE QUINTET

"We must walk this lonesome valley . . ." Strains of this lyric which could be heard in the halls every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday mornings belonged to the Sophomore Boys' Quintet practicing in the auditorium.

This quintet was formed in 1955 as the Freshman Five and has been together ever since.

They have participated in school assemblies, choral concerts, and other social functions outside the school.

Some of the boys favorites were "Lonesome Valley," "Halls of Ivy" and "Caroline."

This group was under the direction of Mr. Loren Wright.

SENIOR HIGH CHORUS

Senior High Chorus, composed of 107 members, was again a very successful group with Mr. Loren Wright as their director.

The chorus started work immediately after school began in preparation for the Christmas Festival held in December. Traditional holiday music was sung by the participating groups with both audience and chorus joining together for a grand finale.

District Chorus was held in January at Lock Haven with four chorus members representing our school at this event. Barbara Garris attended State Chorus in Washington, Pennsylvania, during the same month.

The annual Spring Concert was presented in April.

JUNIOR HIGH MIXED CHORUS

"There's Music in the Air!" Yes, every Monday strains of music filled the air as the Junior High Chorus sang their light and enjoyable melodies.

Early last fall Junior High Chorus was organized with a flourish in order to begin practice immediately for their annual Christmas program. These young singers brought forth three part harmony each week. Diligently they practiced through the autumn season perfecting their holiday numbers for the Christmas Festival presented in December. As soon as this gala event was over rehearsals began for the Spring Concert held in April.

Directed by Mrs. Maybelle Nelson the group became familiar with singing different harmonies which prepared them for Senior High Chorus. Accompanists for Junior Chorus were Shirley Phillips and Suellen Snapp.

JUNIOR GIRLS' CHORUS

The Junior High Girls' Chorus, a group of forty-five eighth and ninth grade girls, was an important part of Kane High's vocal music department. This group was directed by Mrs. Mabelle Nelson, and accompanied by Rose Marie Ferraro and Lois Bilicic. They met every Tuesday morning, first period, filling the air with strains of music as they practiced diligently for the Christmas Carol Festival and the Christmas assembly, where they made the rafters ring with their chorus of joyful carols old and new.

With the coming of spring, the girls began enthusiastically practicing their selections for the Spring Concert, which was held on April 2, and in which all Kane High Choral groups took part. They opened the program with three beautiful songs, "Come Unto Him," "Rendezvous," and the ever popular "Getting to Know You."

The three interscholastic sports at Kane High are represented by the sketches of basketball and football games and a track meet. Again they are placed in squares and rectangles carrying out the geometrical idea.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

After three weeks of hard practice, the Kane Wolves were seemingly ready for their gridiron opener against the Ridgway Elkers on the home field, September 8. Despite the readiness of the Kane eleven, the game ended with them on the short end of a 20-7 score.

The next two away games were also lost—26-0 to St. Marys and 30-0 to Emporium.

Johnsonburg, Kane's next opponent trounced the Wolves 37-0 on the home front.

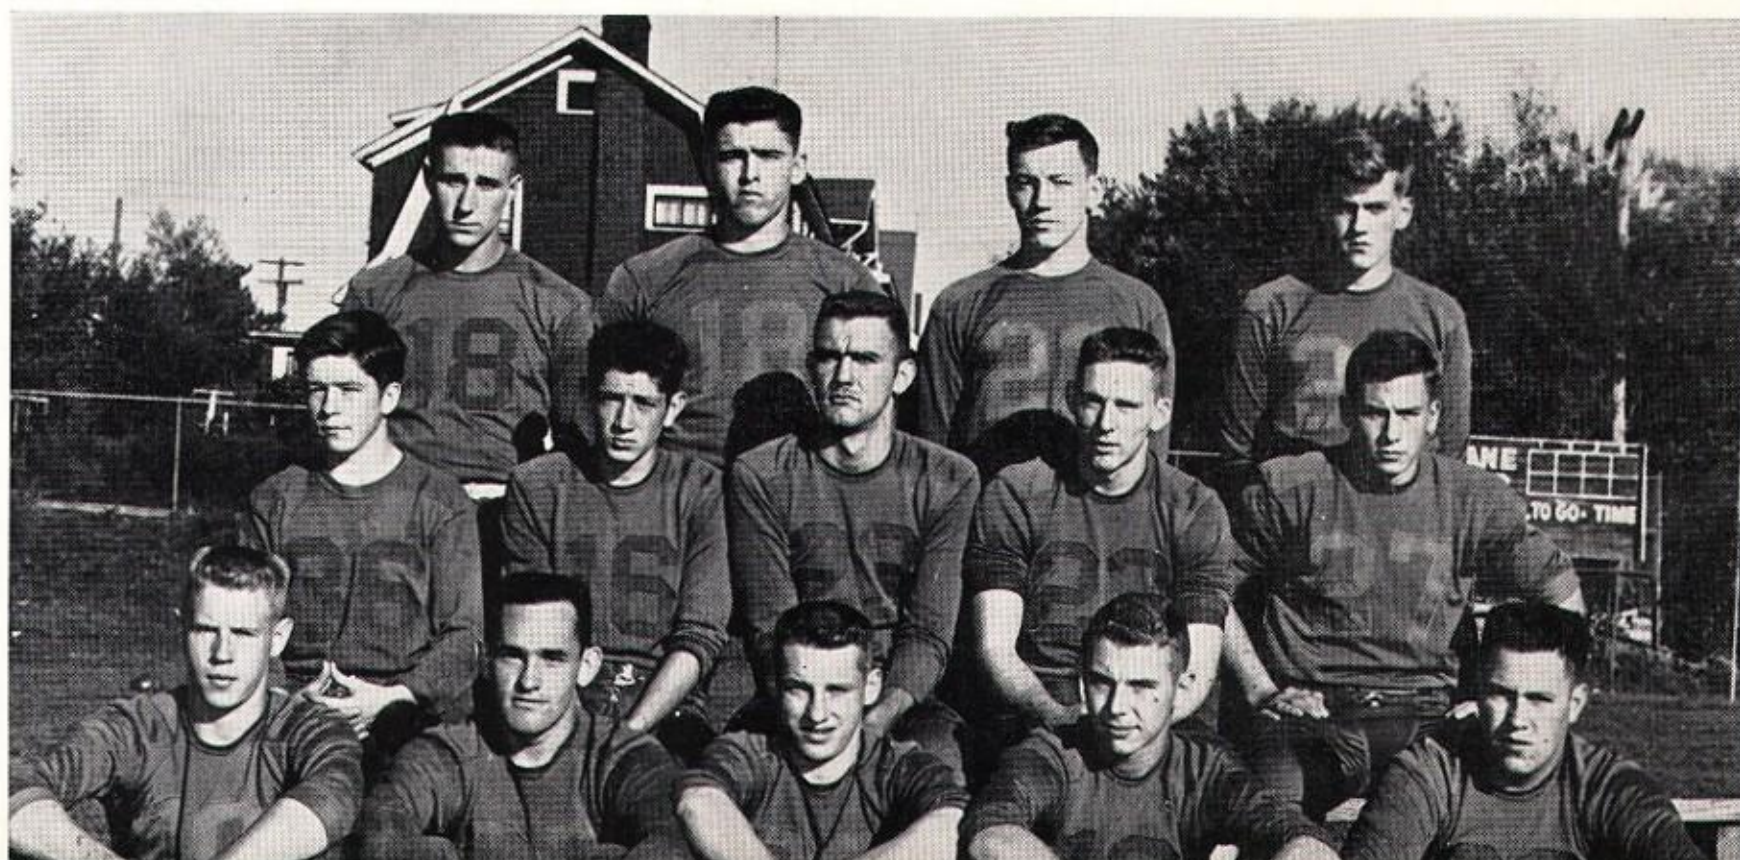

Kane was stopped 33-6 by Port Allegany. Although they lost the Homecoming game, the fired-up Wolves outplayed Brookville in their best showing. Final score: 15-0.

After a surprise lead at Titusville, the Wolves were overtaken by the Rockets to lose 33-12.

The last two games of the season against Warren and Franklin were lost 27-22 and 23-6 respectively. The season ended with nine seniors in uniform for the last time.

J. V. FOOTBALL

Although Coach Johnson's Baby Wolves did not post an outstanding record for the season they certainly deserve praise and admiration. The Junior Varsity squad measured their strength not by their wins but by the fine sportsmanship and 'never say die' spirit that welled within them at each game. These fighting Baby Wolves lived up to their name as they challenged their opponents with unequaled stamina. However, mental vim and vigor was not the answer when the end of the season closed its doors with six defeats and no wins.

Coach Johnson spent a good deal of time explaining the fundamentals of the game in preparing his tutelages for varsity ball. Many of these rugged athletes will see varsity action next year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Kane High Wolves, defending champs of the District IX Class A League began the 1956-57 cage season hoping to retain their title. The Wolves under Coach Matt Rausch, compiled a 13-9 record for the season and 7-5 in league competition. Curwensville was a new entrant into the league.

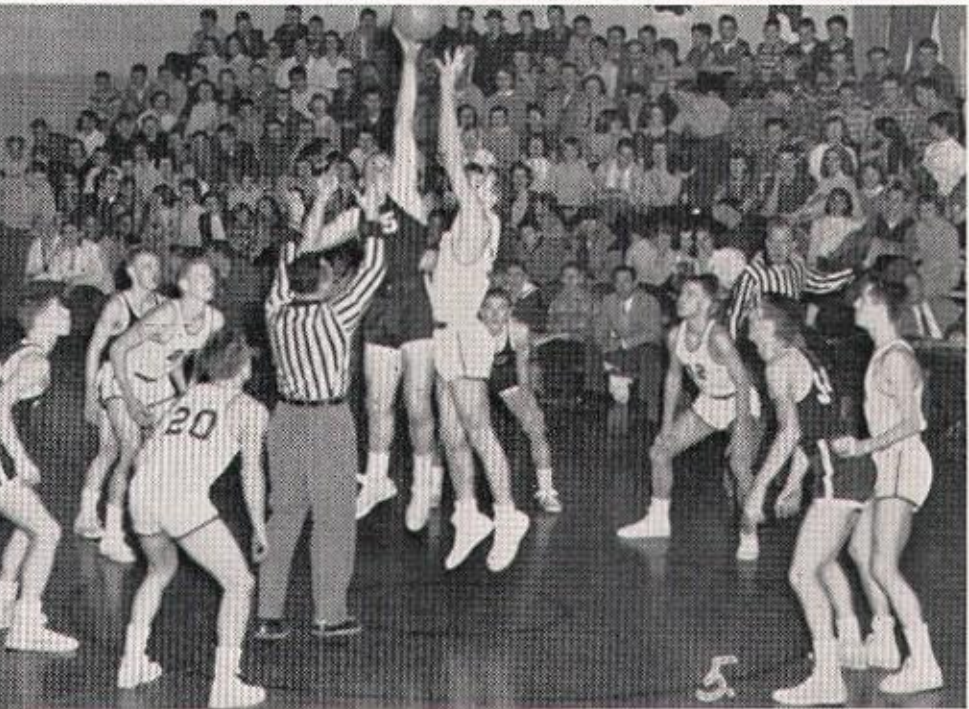

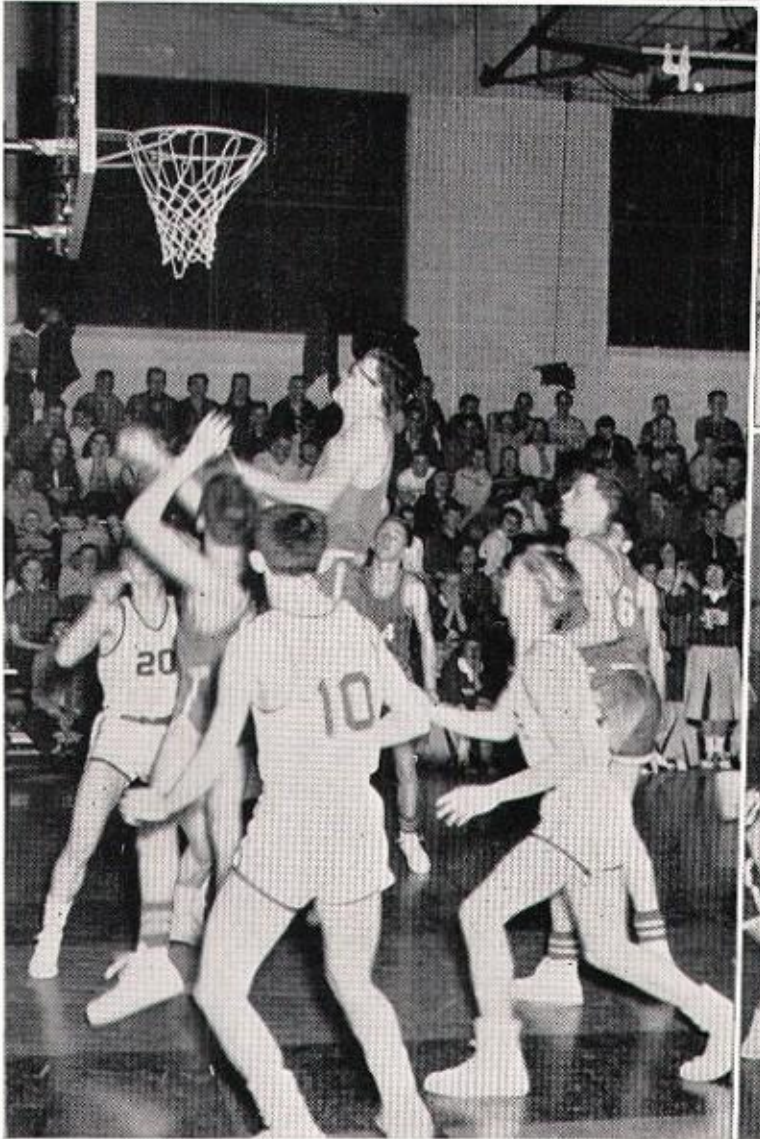

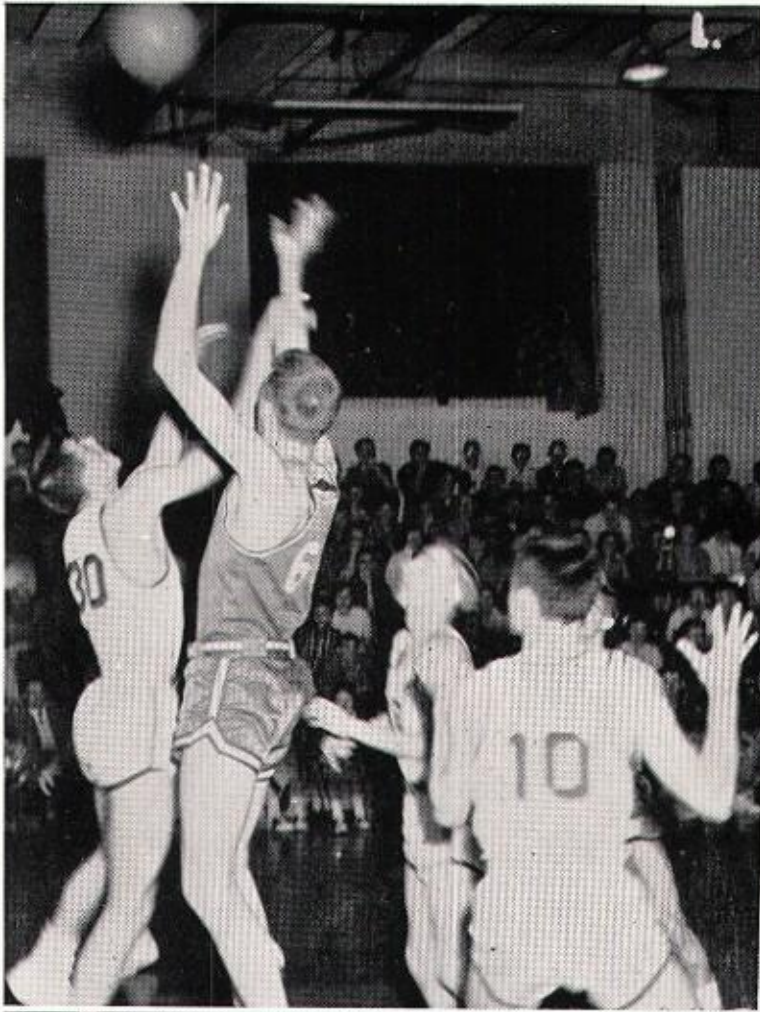

The half-way mark in league play found the Wolves clinging to first place. Bad breaks and a tall Bradford quintet spoiled their plans of repeating as District Champs.

The Wolves, with the pressure off, nearly played the spoiler for Clearfield as they dumped the Bisons on their home court 55-52 in the final game of the season but the Bison aggregation overpowered a weak Curwensville club to take the championship.

J. V. BASKETBALL

Another exciting basketball season has come to a close for Coach Johnson's Baby Wolves with a record of thirteen wins and nine losses. Two losses went to Warren and two to Clearfield. The other five were lost to Bradford, DuBois, Johnsonburg, Punxsutawney, and Curwensville.

The year was full of exciting games for Kane's Junior Varsity had an up and down season.

Using a zone defense, Kane managed to beat their old rival, Bradford, on the home court. This was one of the most exciting games for the Junior Varsity squad, although Bradford later beat them on their own floor.

Perhaps the most thrilling game of the season was against Punxsutawney on our own hardwood. Leading all the way to the fourth quarter, the Wolves lost their tallest man and Punxsy cut Kane's lead of 11 points to three, ending the game with Kane having a score of 46, Punxsutawney 43.

TRACK

Spring found the Kane High thinclads churning cinders, spewing sawdust from the jumping pits and measuring their mighty heaves as they prepared to open the 1957 track season.

The largest group of candidates ever to report for the sport was spotted with eight veterans from last year's District IX championship squad. Many of the newcomers demonstrated ability that should help the Wolves defend their title successfully.

Coach Lavern Johnson and Assistant Coach Bob Siar were heartened by the results of the first meet held at home when the Wolves tramped over Ridgway by the top-sided margin of 90½ to 24½. May found the Wolves vying for honors at the county meet and requiring polish for their defense at the district crown on May 11.

The boys who placed first or second at that event represented the school in the state meet at Penn State.

CHEERLEADERS

Varsity and Jr. Varsity cheerleaders worked tirelessly this year keeping up the team's morale and arousing school spirit throughout the season. Whether winning or losing, they never lost their vim and vigor. The cheerleaders who are under the direction of Mrs. Alice Turner spend many hard hours practicing cheers. Due to their good work and spirit our cheerleaders help cheer all of Kane's teams to a successful season.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Athletic Council takes the responsibility of managing Kane High's athletic activities making our participation in interscholastic competition possible.

Council members usher at all sports, purchase athletic equipment and help in making our athletic program a successful one.

Athletic Council meets every other Monday with Lynn Larson presiding; Keith Skelly, vice president; Bonnie Anderson, secretary; and Mr. Paul Montgomery, treasurer.

GIRLS' INTRAMURALS

"Kick it hard!" "Ouch my foot!" "Why don't you watch where you're kicking?" This familiar cry was often heard when wall soccer started off this year's girls' intramurals program. Although the object of this game is to direct the ball to a given goal, it sometimes looked as if the main object was to see who could land the hardest wallop. In wall soccer competition the Bouncy Buttons, led by Margie Holland, were the victors in the senior circuit while Ginger Johnson's Slap Happy's came out on top in the junior league.

Next on the agenda was foul shooting. Lynn Larson placed first in this test of individual skill. She was followed closely by Cathy Burns and Shirley Mague in the senior league. Suellen Snapp, Judy Johnson, and Lois Peterson, copped top honors in the junior league.

Late in November the swish of nets heralded the arrival of basketball, the most popular and competitive girls' intramural sport. For their third consecutive year, Lynn Larson's Bouncing Babes captured first place in the senior league. The Slap Happy's, an eighth grade team led by Ginger Johnson, took top honors in the junior league.

Volleyball nets went up as the season got underway in January. Shirley Mague's City Slickers came out on top in the senior circuit and laurels in the junior league went to Johnson's Slap Happy's.

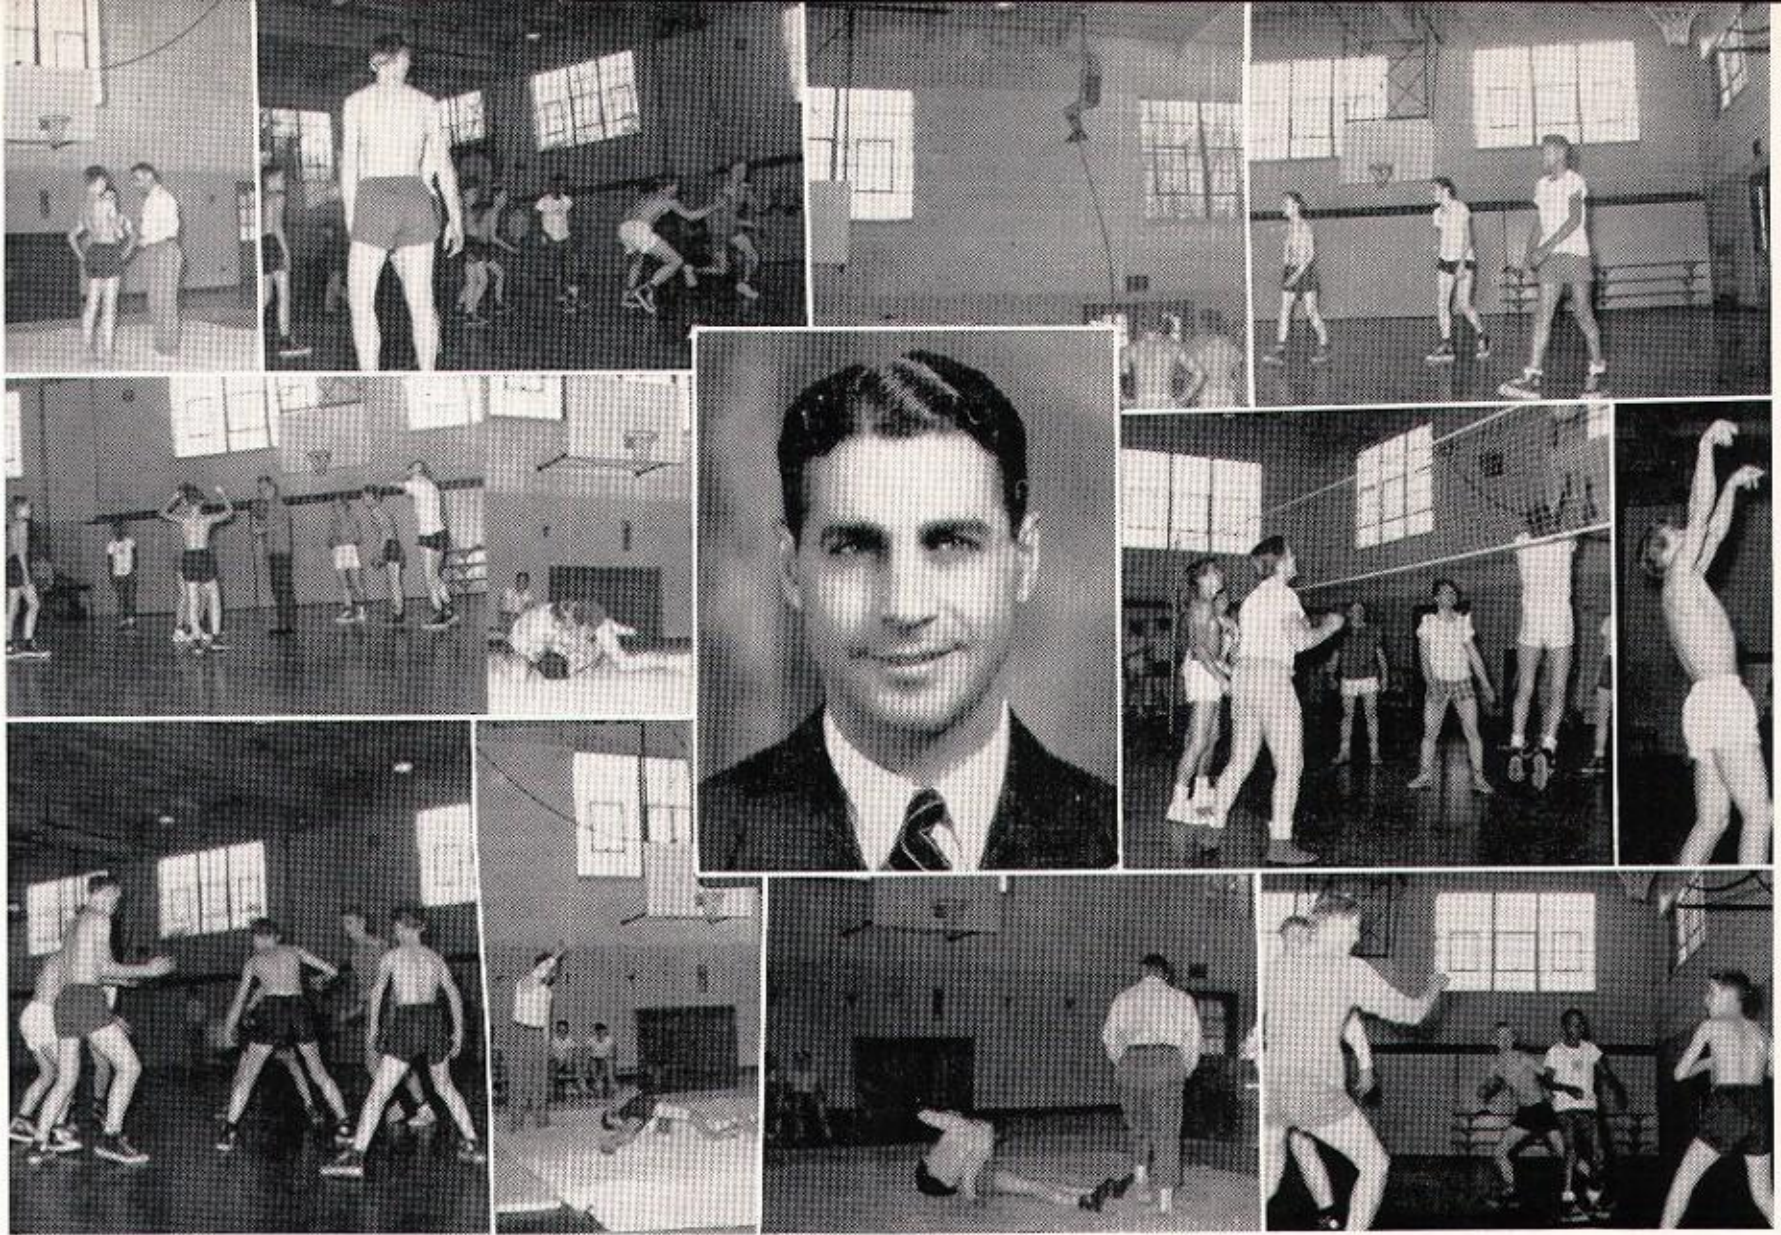

Badminton was the sport which concluded the intramural program.

This year felt emblems were awarded to members of the top teams in basketball, volleyball, and badminton.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Alice Turner, Margie Holland, senior intramural manager, scheduled games, registered teams, refereed, and kept records.

As in other years, the point system was used as a means of awarding intramural K's. This system gave the girls ten points for winning, seven for losing, five for substituting and three for refereeing and scorekeeping.

K's were awarded at the final assembly.

BOYS' INTRAMURALS

Every Monday and Thursday Kane High boys of many sizes and descriptions ran to their locker room under the gym to dress for intramurals. The beginning sport last fall was football.

When the season ended late in October Sonny Bush's Steelers came out on top in the Senior League with four wins and only one defeat. The Harris-sons captured the Freshman League with five wins and no defeats, and the Beavers took top prize in the Eighth Grade League.

In November the Weidow twins, Dave and Dennis, tied intramural foul shooting with 12 out of 25 in the senior division, but Dennis won in the play-offs with five out of five shots to beat his twin brother. Joe Bizzak won in the junior competition with 11 out of 25. Sophomore Otis Irons shot the highest in his class and high for the school with 15 out of 25.

Winston Neal was high scorer for the freshmen and Ken Johnson for the eighth graders.

One main event at Kane High before Christmas was the Senior League basketball game.

Champions of the league, the Browns, captained by Bill Brown, played the All-Stars, who were captained by Guy Hallgren. All-Stars won 22-16.

After a holiday vacation the Lakers, champions of the Freshman League, were severely beaten by the Freshman All-Stars. In the Eighth Grade League the All-Stars defeated the Champion 49'ers.

January and early February was the intramural volleyball season. The Eighth Grade League was clinched by Denny Vandervoort and his Sharks. John Gatewood's Hawks took the Freshman League volleyball championship, and the Lobbers were the champions of the Senior League.

Next on the agenda for intramural activity was wrestling, which proved to be quite a popular sport this year.

Last on the schedule was track, but the spring track intramurals were hampered by the late snows.

Bellview Hospital
New York, N. Y.
September 26, 1967

Dear Minerva,

I am writing this from the hospital, trying to bring you up to date on my world tour. I expected to finish it at home, but as you'll find, I'm in the Bellview Hospital.

My trip has been wonderful. The old world was more than I had ever hoped for. You'll never guess who I saw in Rome! Remember the girl in our class who was always using and writing speeches in "long words?" Judy Bentz—you know. She married a newspaper reporter from Kane, and he's working as a foreign correspondent in Italy. When she has time off from entertaining, Judy writes speeches for top Italian officials.

I also "ran into" George Walker in Rome. He's a motor policeman, and my taxi ran into the back of his motorcycle. When he saw who it was, he dismissed all charges. That role in the junior play must have really meant something to George!

Singapore was nice; it isn't at all like I thought it would be. I had to go through the customs office there, and my interpreter was Kay Knapp. Her exotic looks got her that job. She likes it quite well, although the matrimonial prospects aren't too good in China. She's planning a trip to the U. S. next leap year. Kay thinks that maybe she can go back to Singapore as a Mrs.

Remember the tall boy in our class, Gus Vanderneck? Everyone thought that he was a Swede. Now he is a Swiss mountain guide. I was never more surprised than to see him help me into my ski lift.

My nurse just left. She looks strangely familiar. Oh yes, it's Nancy Kimbrough. She's trying to get nurses' uniforms changed from white to green, so they'll go better with her hair. I do hope she succeeds, because it would look nice—on her anyway.

To get back to my trip—I spent three days in Bruun, Austria. There I found Robin Adair, Ph.D., trying to develop a new type of mouse. The Kraft Company is calling for mice that don't like cheese. He went to Austria to get more "atmosphere".

Mary Santilli is recuperating in a Vienna rest home. She was so worried over the '57 HuriKane, that her doctor ordered a complete rest.

That she is doing, and enjoying The Cardinal at the same time.

I wonder what became of Susie Rogers? She was planning on being a medical technician. I hope she attained her dream. Well! Talk about coincidences. The M. T. that just took a sample of my blood looked like Sue. Sure enough! It is. After ten years in the big city she has changed somewhat.

There was a funny man outside my room window. He kept looking in, as if he expected something. I invited him in, and found out it was John Van Aken. He's a mortician in New York, and business isn't going too well. He said he haunts the hospital, waiting for customers!

Princess Grace of Monaco had twins. You'll never guess whom she called to take care of them—Judy Erickson. She's married now, but the royal children all call her "Madame Judith".

I visited Bolivia, too, in my travels. Ever since the teachers from Bolivia visited us in school, I have always wanted to go there. I saw Ruth Mohny, too. She's so happy in Bolivia.

I must mention that my pilot of the plane that I took to Bolivia was Chris Andersen. He goes big game hunting during his time off.

My doctor just came in to see me. Although it's been ten years since I've seen him, I recognized him as Sam Cummings. He hasn't changed much, and he's still wearing his hair in a crew cut. The older doctors don't think too much of this, but all the student nurses do!

Before I landed in the hospital, I planned to go to Carnegie Hall. One of the '57 graduates is opening there this week. Barbara Garis (Danielson) finally got her big chance. I'm so sorry I have to miss it, but she's promised to play for me in her Park Avenue home after I'm discharged.

Washington was really a joy to see! I enjoyed it a lot when I was a senior, but this visit meant more because I had a chance to see some of my classmates. Barb Kibbie has become the president's personal secretary. Also, after much persuasion, Shirley Mague consented to become the appointment secretary of the first lady. Both girls are well suited to the jobs, and they seem happy with them.

The New York Times paper just arrived, and I learned that Bonnie Anderson is entertaining New York's high society in her home next Thursday. I must see if I can manage an invitation. Being a Kane High grad, she should be glad to see me.

PROPHECY

Becky Kane has married, according to the Kane Republican. She was working at the new Kane TV station before her marriage. I might add that Barry Stigers is the owner of the station. His marvelous work at WADP was noticed by a talent scout for new TV stations, and therefore, he got the job.

Frederick Jeffords is running for Congress from the 23rd district. I do hope Fred wins; it will mean so much to Mrs. Jeffords and the little ones. Forest Ranger jobs aren't paying much since the development of the self-dousing forest fire. That latest innovation was patented by John Mosier, KAJHS alumnus.

You'll never guess whom I found in Canada! The famous twins, Dave and Dennis Weidow. They've started a chain store especially for look-alikes, and as their personal secretaries they have another equally well known pair, Barb and Beverly Dodge.

David Conn is coming along well in the music world. His band is now regularly featured on "Greatest Bands of the Land". Randy Manning and Charles Mellander are partners in the "Connelman Band".

Sports Illustrated carried an article on Marg Holland last month. "Mighty Marg", she's called. She is the only woman to break Ruth's record. Mantle couldn't do it, so Marg did!

Radio TV Mirror tells of the new sensation on Broadway. It's Bob Howard, of course: I'm proud to say that I saw him in such famous hits as "Father was a Housewife", and "The Late Christopher Bean". Along with Bob went Sandy Walter. Although Sandy has married, she still retains Walter as her stage name. Both of them opened on Broadway last week.

Just as Mr. Robinson predicted, Keith Larson became "the most called for harmonica player in America". I had a chance to see him when I was in Tibet.

In Africa, I met Montie Collier. He's on location for the new Tarzan film. Mr. Rice saw him swimming across a river and right away he got Montie to sign a contract, promising to be the new Tarzan. You should really see him. He looks so handsome in leopard skins!

Shirley, Montie's wife, is with him. She's carrying on her social service work in Africa trying to Christianize the natives. With her is June Campbell. With both of them there, they should be able to do some fine work.

Minerva, I so want to tell you whom I saw in Mongolia. There, among all the Mongolians, were two Kane High graduates, Bill Cuthbertson and Bruce Latshaw. They're busy trying to combine outer and inner Mongolia.

Texas was the nicest surprise in my travels. There I saw Ron Christy. He's talking with a real southern accent now. Minerva, you should see all the servants he has. Ron must be a multi-trillionaire by now. He owns practically all of Texas and a little of Oklahoma thrown in.

Marlene Dyne and Julia Eck have started an agency called "Usherettes Unlimited". In their service is Marge Beatty, Mabel Offi, and Clarice Oyler. These girls usher at some of the "better" night clubs of New York. They're making very good wages, and when I visited the Coconut Grove, I talked of joining them!

Roberta Shrubbs, the famous beauty of Mr. Klein's room, was chosen Miss America last week. During my trip through Atlantic City, I had the honor of seeing her crowned.

Nurses are all over in this place. I guess that's because it's a hospital. One just brought in my tray. Pat Mague! She looks so different off the intramural floor.

This tray doesn't look good at all. I must speak to the dietitian about it. Her name is on the card; let's see. Lynn Swanson. My, that sounds familiar. Goodness yes, Susie told me that Mike's wife was working here. I guess the name didn't click. I wonder if Mike likes the cooking. Mike is the owner of a dog-walking concern in New York. Olmstead's dog really taught him a few things.

Beverly A'Harrah and Diana Marasco have gone in partnership in a New York theatre. With so much previous experience, they should do well.

Argentina and its wheat fields are beautiful this time of year. There I found another illustrious Kane grad, Dick Johnson, who is the owner of a large wheat plantation. Garry Rathbun came from the U. S. last year to help him. Seems the wheat fields are pretty big.

Do you remember Joanne McKenna and Peachy Perry? They're now the co-owners of a shoe-shine business in London. I was so surprised to hear them say "shine?"

Kent Wilson, I learned, has become the new owner of the Erie Dispatch. Kent has finally gone ahead.

I went to the Rose Bowl while in California. Bob Arnold is the star quarterback for Oregon State Beavers. He's becoming as famous as Alan Ameche.

India, famous for its big game hunters, has another to boast of, Paul Carley. I saw Paul shoot a cobra in cold blood while I was visiting in Goa. Can't you just picture Paul in safari-type clothes?

In Tulsa, I stopped in at a square dance. It was the recital of Patricia Bowman's pupils. They have become the best dancers in the world. They've won the Olympic medal for Pat. I can imagine she's quite proud of them!

Gilbert Brown is selling locks of genuine red hair in Tokyo. You know, Minerva, that the Japanese have a passion for auburn colored locks.

I suppose I'd better tell you how I landed in the hospital. I was coming in from London, and was over La Guardia when I learned that my pilot hadn't learned how to land! I found our pilot to be John Colle. He wanted to fly so badly that he learned from a book, and he didn't study how to land. Gloria Tunall and Carol Malone were the stewardesses on this flight, and were they scared!

Remember Ed Morgan, the shiek of Halsey? He was also a hot rod fan, and now his love of cars has paid off. He's being paid to race against the Prince of Monaco. Since Judy is working for the Princess, they can talk of old times.

In the artists' quarters of Paris, I found Barb Ewing. If she's not working as an artist, she's posing for one. In order to enter art school in the United States, she would have to get her hair cut, so she went abroad to study.

Looking in the police news column of The Times, I find that one of my classmates is making news. Joanne Thompson got stopped while running through a red light. She was apprehended by Gaynelle Fleeger, the only policewoman on the New York City staff.

Willie, Joanne's husband, is a lawyer in New Jersey, so I imagine the charge will be dropped.

Annie Sivak, Donna Terry, and Betsy Smith have set the styles in hair-dressing. They're owners of the "T.S.S." salon in Paris. Carol Gustafson is working with them as a dress designer. They design the hair styles to suit Carol's creations. Even Dior has been outdone by Mme. Carol!

Montana, especially the Indian reservations, was interesting. I met Shirley Hedlund on one of the reservations working to teach the Indians English. She told me that one of the chiefs wanted to marry her, but she declined his offer. Wonder why?

Phyllis and Jim Rook and all the little Rooks went to Bermuda on a vacation this year. Jim is a commercial artist for Kaufman's. Phyllis developed a mania for Bermuda onions, and they had to go to their source.

Another Bowl game brought me in touch with those all time greats, Jim Smith and Keith Skelly. Imagine two Kane men playing against one another!

Germany was one of the nice places to visit. I found Karl Rietter there, organizing a newspaper for a small town that had been liberated by the Martians.

I suppose you know of the Martian attack by now. Wouldn't you know that Bernard Peterson would do something like that? I don't mean he was entirely to blame for the attack, but he did make radio contact with Mars without a permit. George Peters and Bob Roth helped him fight them off, but the space men were too strong for them and they took them back to Mars. As they left, they could be heard to say, "Good-bye, earth people!"

Do you know who is the originator of those fashionable Italian "Bull Terrier" cuts? His professional name is Rogere, but he's Roger Klaiber. The same one that graduated with us, Minerva. He tried to talk me into one of those hair cuts, but I prefer my crop the way it is.

Did you know that Sam Weston, the composer of "The Weston Beat", has an offer to join Dave Brubeck's jazz combo? He told me in Madrid where his band is now on tour. You should hear Sammy play that Spanish music—it's really "cool".

While I was crossing the Pacific en route to Japan, I was surprised to discover that the captain of my ship was Joe Wiggins, a '57 graduate. He entertained each night after dinner with his guitar. It made the crossing quite enjoyable.

In Antarctica I found Don Armstrong. He was chosen to go because he had a built-in Armstrong heater. That wasn't really the reason, of course; he was picked because Ron Swanson, the leader of the expedition, wanted someone he knew on the voyage with him.

Ruth Bradybaugh was in Hawaii spending her honeymoon. Her name isn't Bradybaugh, of course; she only uses that when she autographs her novels. After so many themes in English IV,

PROPHECY

Ruth decided she liked to write so she turned to novels.

A new company was being formed in Sweden during my visit. It's called the "M&M". Of course you can guess that the partners are Mr. and Mrs. Carlson. Mike's division sponsors basketball teams, and Mona's the cheerleaders.

Detroit has just announced the dream car of the future. David Clyde and Bob Ishman designed it for GM. It's a combination of all their high school drawings. I understand that before GM is allowed to market it, it must be called the "Clish Car".

Carol Deems still has her neat figure. She's modeling Christian Dior's creations in Lisbon, Portugal. She's reviving the '56 hit of "Petticoats of Portugal".

Joyce Wolfe and Eleanor Swedenhjelm are gym teachers at Penn State. Really, Minerva, these Kane girls do get around.

Bob Donovan is currently speaking on his new discovery for the common cold. I wanted to discover a remedy too, but as long as a '57er gets the credit, who am I to complain?

Pat Gregg is working in London. When I called from that city, she put my Trans-Atlantic call through. Darla Ingersoll is working on the other side of the ocean, and she and Pat spend much company time talking of the wonderful years at KAJHS.

Pearl Gerhart is the only one of our class who has really settled down. She's working at home, raising four children. I saw her in Peoria, Illinois, when I stopped at her husband's filling station.

Another nurse came in to take my tray away. I don't believe she's really a nurse. No, she was the receptionist, Miss Howe. They're short of help at the hospital and everyone available is being utilized.

Shirley Raught, '57, visited me yesterday. She brought a magazine published by Clifford Mohny. Shirley told about her establishment in Hazelhurst. She and her husband have taken over the hotel there.

After reading Cliff's magazine, I thought about Sandy Hultman. She filled most of the pages of the magazine with the story of her historic crossing of the Pacific in Betty Morris's new scientific helicopter. Betty did like physics, I remember.

I brought home a live Llama from Tibet.

After seeing Keith's performance, Guy Hallgren presented me with the animal. While I was in the hospital, I hired Nancy James' Animal Agency to care for it. Nancy always did like animals, especially cats.

Judy Holt is working for the Saturday Evening Post, drawing the cartoons. She's even drawing "Herman".

Ruth Johnston has become treasurer for a high school in Little Rock, Arkansas. I saw her there when I was visiting another Kane alumnus, Peg Ludwig. Peg is a secretary to the owner of all Arkansas mineral springs.

George Punk and Bill Reigel have become the top commanders of NATO and SHAPE, respectively. They always were so military minded.

I bought you the sweetest hat, Minerva. It was designed by Donna Rolfe. She was one of your best friends in Van's chemistry class.

Speaking of military generals, let me mention that I saw John Cliff in Washington, too. He's the chief of staff of the U. S. Army. I don't think he knew who I was. Generals are so busy these days.

Judy Weaver (now married) is teaching home-ec at White Sands, New Mexico. Her husband is an atomic scientist at the proving grounds.

Carol Anderson is working with Shirley Hedlund. Occasionally, Carol goes to Paris, where she has a position as a can-can girl.

Vern Swanson finally has a pair of teeth that stay. After many sets from A.A., he cut a third set and is very proud of them.

Do you remember the yellow car that was always around school? It's in the Royal Museum in London now. Cars like Lyle Rea's are so rare nowadays!

Larry Johnson, the handsome football player is Mr. Lowry's assistant at Slippery Rock.

In a mirror I found Mary Ann Turnquist. She, too, has married and is busy raising a family. Her dreams still run to riches.

My doctor gave me the "OK" to go home, so I'll be seeing you in a few days. My tour has been a grand success, including my stay in the hospital, because I've seen all my high school classmates.

Au revoir,
Hattie
